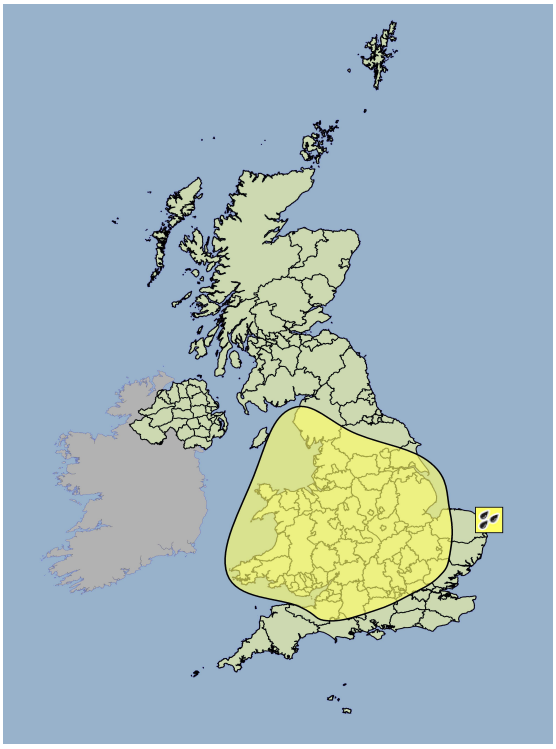
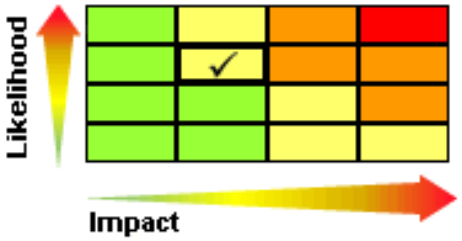
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A slack area of low pressure will move slowly across southern Britain today, bringing unstable air and the potential for thundery showers. The light winds mean that the downpours will be slow-moving as well as intense in some regions, with the possibility of 15 mm or more falling in less than an hour.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 12:30 on Tue, 06th Oct 2015 until 23:59 on Tue, 06th Oct 2015

Although many areas will miss the heaviest rainfall today, some parts of the warning area are likely to see heavy, sometimes thundery and slow-moving showers, these leading to temporary surface water flooding in a few areas, together with minor disruption to travel.
